

poem

what kind of poem
is there left to be written?
so many are there
'bout the moon
'bout the clouds
'neath the sea

traces, escapes
getting lost
in the snow of time
time running out
dead leaves of an oh!
eternal fall

forget it
why write one more
there's plenty
to live